Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Treaty-Making Power in the United States: An Address It is not easy for a Diplomatic officer, in search of a subject upon which to address a serious-minded body like the Oxford University British-American Club, to select a topic at the same time sufficiently concrete to be of interest, and sufficiently abstract to be within his permitted limits. He must forgo, of course, any discussion of matters in train between his Government and the one to which he is accredited; he must be dumb upon all political questions agitating his own countrymen; while as to those which disturb the serenity of his hosts he must, for his life, be not only dumb but to outward appearance deaf as well. Such restrictions, you will realize, are rather a severe abridgement of the Constitutional right of free speech. They leave their unfortunate subject little secure footing outside the realm of palaeontology or the higher mathematics. I believe, however, that I shall not transgress if I ask you to consider the history and scope of the treaty-making power of the United States, or rather, from the point of view I have in mind, their treaty-making machinery. It is not impossible that some of its manifestations have come to your attention within the last twelve months; and from time to time there has been reason to fear that not all who witnessed its revolutions, or heard the clanking of its parts, have understood the mechanical principles by which it was controlled. Doubtless none of this audience fall within this category; but since you exist not only to secure but to disseminate information between our countries, I offer no apology...
